

Providing Service That's Just Right

You can count on Bond Beebe. The firm's stability is anchored in its long-standing reputation for excellence and its ability to adapt to changing business environments. Historically, our policy and procedures have exceeded the minimum required by accounting standards—we go well beyond to ensure accuracy and client satisfaction. Our firm maintains its traditional areas of expertise while providing the most appropriate technology solutions and investment guidance for our clients.

The firm has grown to have a major presence in the Washington, DC metro area. Bond Beebe boasts an impressive list of clients—they include both established and start-up companies, professional services firms, labor organizations, associations and not-for-profit organizations, as well as individuals and families.

Whenever Bond Beebe takes on a new client, we like to start with a face-to-face meeting. We'll ask plenty of questions—it's the best way for us to get to know your individual needs before we propose solutions. Individualized attention leads to personalized solutions that satisfy your needs. Starting off with a handshake reflects our business style from start to finish—it's personal.

When you do business with Bond Beebe, there is no other client more important than you. Whether you need accounting and tax services expertise, proven technology solutions, a financial planning partner or management advisory service, Bond Beebe matches the right team to each project.

You'll find we give personal attention to business problems and we take a business approach to personal financial management. We're not so modern that every client is a number on a computer database; but we are innovative in providing state-of-the art services. You can count on the service Bond Beebe provides being "just right."

You Can Trust Us With Your Reputation

It goes without saying that you can trust Bond Beebe with your confidential information. And though our business is accounting, since the early 1930’s we have prided ourselves on protecting something you can’t put a price tag on: your reputation.

It was 1932 when one-time bank teller and Army lieutenant Lewis F. Bond started a tax and audit business. From the outset, he put his reputation on the line each time he put his company’s name on a report. It’s still that way today.

But Bond’s vision of success entailed not only precise accounting work—it included exceptional personal service. Bond, who became a CPA in 1919, had found a winning combination. His company’s expert work and extraordinary service has a bright history of steadying faltering businesses and helping solid ones grow. The result then, as now: satisfied clients returned and sought more from the firm than auditing services.

With a reputation for excellence that has grown along with the firm, Bond Beebe is known for the impressive expertise of its partners. And in response to the more sophisticated needs of our clients, we have evolved to deliver more—from technology consulting to financial advisory services. At Bond Beebe, we’re more than accountants.

We're More Than Accountants
